

Minnie Colleen Wooldridge passed away just a few years ago due to cancer. I (Kenny Wooldridge) called her "shorty"/Grandma/Bestfriend. Papa, Melvin Wooldridge was her husband and together they created one of the most dominate duos of love this world has ever seen. In 2015, Papa left this world and began eternity with the love of his life. Since their passing I have wanted to create something that would continue their legacy and create a conversation about their life and the love they showered daily on their loved ones.

In their honor we will be opening a one-stop shop for gourmet coffee, tea, and eats.

Why the name? They grew up in the town of Watonga, Oklahoma. Grandma was the towns soda jerk at the drugstore's soda bar.

Why Coffee? I remember watching Papa drink coffee every morning. I wanted to be just like Papa so I started forcing that "nasty" stuff down my throat until I grew to be a coffee lover. The majority of my Saturday mornings growing up were spent with Papa in the coffee shops listening to him tell stories of life experiences. This special time with him is something I have always cherished and will never forget.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Kung'. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping 'K' and a long, curved tail.

